Acknowledgement of Country

SENVIC proudly acknowledges the traditional owners of country and pays respect to past, present and emerging Elders. Since time immemorial, Victorian Traditional Owners have practiced their laws, customs and languages and nurtured the country. Sovereignty was never ceded. Through the strength, resilience and pride of our First Peoples, their cultures, communities and economies endure and continue to grow and thrive today.

Welcome

We exist because we share our members' vision for a just, inclusive and sustainable society and believe that social enterprise is a means to get us there. Social enterprise needs its own spaces from which to connect, grow and shape the world around us.

That's why this report matters. It demonstrates how our network is making a difference. And we've only just begun.

We hope this report gives you a clear picture of our performance and impact in the year to 30 June 2021, including:

- Our performance connecting the social enterprise community and enablers
- Our creation of accessible programs and equitable distribution of benefits to members
- Our enabling strategies to amplify the voice of sector leaders state-wide and create more favourable policies and external conditions.

If you have any thoughts on this report that you'd like to share, please email us on hello@senvic.org.au.

Chairperson's Report

Social Enterprise Network Victoria was established in 2018 to build a connected community of social enterprises, to facilitate access to learning and development opportunities and to give practitioners an independent and collective voice.

With seed funding from Equity Trustees, we formed as nine founding members, all of whom are leaders of some of Victoria's longest-standing and influential social enterprises; CERES, the Australian Centre for Rural Entrepreneurship (ACRE), The Community Grocer, GAME Traffic and Contracting, Good Cycles, Green Collect, 100 Story Building, STREAT and Social Traders.

With funding from the Victorian government in 2019/20, SENVIC and its regional delivery partner ACRE employed part-time staff to build the network statewide and increase the awareness and effectiveness of the organization. SENVIC appointed local leads in all five of the State's regional areas.

In 2021, SENVIC was incorporated as a company limited by guarantee and is currently awaiting approval as a registered charity. SENVIC issued its first annual memberships in July 2021 and is holding its inaugural AGM on 7 October 2021. This is a significant milestone for us. And it's only the beginning.

We are grateful for the vision and continued support provided by the Victorian government to enable an independent, practitioner-led network to provide system stewardship and represent the voice of the sector. That support enables SENVIC to continue to provide free membership and an inclusive community for like-minded people.

Our work throughout the pandemic has illuminated the importance and power of social enterprise networks. It is a critical force in a healthy social enterprise ecosystem and a powerful enabler to tackle key social and environmental challenges and opportunities: economic marginalisation and economic inclusion, community development and rejuvenation, environmental destruction and ecological renewal.

The formation of Alliance of Social Enterprise Networks Austral (ASENA) is a historic milestone for the sector. The unprecedented national collaboration and coordination moved quickly to influence federal government policy and create a national voice for social enterprise.

The very recent launch of the Victorian Government's Social Enterprise Strategy 2021-2025 and the planned re-opening of the economy bring significant opportunities for SENVIC and the wider community. In the year ahead, we will seek to establish partnerships that drive implementation of the Strategy, support our members to emerge stronger post-pandemic, introduce fee-based programs while maintaining accessibility and create opportunities for collaboration, systems thinking and collective action.

In these challenging times, the network provides a unique shelter from the storm. We are stronger together and we look forward to supporting our community in the years ahead to recover, rejuvenate and thrive once again.

CEO's Report

Establishing a network during a global pandemic is less than ideal. Despite the inherent challenges, we are unwavering in our commitment to grow a thriving community of social enterprise practitioners and enablers.

As a start up, we are continuously learning and adapting. Deep and sincere thanks to the members that attended our events, shared challenges in our learning programs and contributed to shaping our identity and sense of community. Member feedback reinforces the unique spaces SENVIC is creating - connecting people and ideas - and that our movement is only building.

Strong membership growth and a high level of member engagement is pleasing to see. More rewarding is the emerging leadership and innovation in our sector and the increased confidence to step forward as advocates, collaborators and innovators.

We are immensely proud of the inaugural Social Enterprise Leaders Fellowship and the unique bonds developed through the virtual workshops and meetings. The recent appointment of nine SENVIC members to Metropolitan and Regional Partnership Boards across Victoria is also a tremendous milestone. These forums ensure the voice of social enterprise is heard by all levels of government alongside business and community leaders.

In 2020, we delivered a range of fully subsidised social enterprise capacity-building programs and enabled access for 79 participants from across Victoria. In 2021, we expanded our learning and development program to promote safe and inclusive workplaces. The overwhelming response (132 social enterprise participants) confirms our sector's commitment to building a workforce of allies and desire for capacity building to role-model a just, inclusive and sustainable economy.

We took deliberate steps to amplify the voice of social enterprise and influence federal policy. The formation of ASENA and the first Virtual Social Enterprise Unconference were pivotal in forming stronger ties across Australia. We then joined ACRE and the English Family Foundation to commence the journey towards a national social enterprise strategy. We are immensely proud of the landmark report delivered by the Yunus Centre at Griffith University and look forward to engaging members in this journey.

The regional network is a foundation-piece for SENVIC. Under the stewardship of the SENVIC Regional Manager supported by ACRE, we connected with diverse and far flung communities and enabled cross-sector partnerships and collaborations. I want to thank the SENVIC Local Leads for volunteering their time to build community across all 5 regional areas of Victoria, and for the countless pivots and pirouettes since March 2020.

The SENVIC Local Lead model, based on community development principles of enablement, collaboration, mutual respect and strategic alignment of purpose has been critical to our success in building SENVIC's institutional presence in a fragmented ecosystem. The Gippsland Social Enterprise Collective demonstrates the power of self-organising networks to generate value and unite a diverse and dispersed community.

We are not only anchored in place, we are uniting to solve society's greatest challenges and demonstrating leadership and innovation to achieve the UN's Sustainable Development Goals.

Social enterprise is leading cross-sector, system-level collaboration with the food system project known as Moving Feast. In early 2020, STREAT rapidly mobilised 17 food-based social enterprises to build a fairer and more regenerative food system. These vibrant and innovative collaborations showcase our potential and prototype the new economy.

The past year has helped to clarify SENVIC's unique operating environment.

We exist to enable our members to be leaders, to be the doers and the voice of a just, inclusive and sustainable society. We go with the energy. To be an effective and sustainable network, our focus is on enabling you.

We do this best by promoting social enterprise as a powerful business model, holding space for connection, learning and community building, by enabling leadership across Victoria and in priority areas of social innovation, and by building our collective digital capability. Digital will be crucial moving forward. It will enable us to connect, clarify our impact, promote new opportunities and stimulate innovation.

SENVIC is matching strong member growth and support from across the ecosystem with an equally ambitious engagement and growth plan.

Thanks to all the supporters and partners who have believed in this start-up.

Conversation Circles

Conversation Circles created online peer-learning opportunities to explore issues and build the sector's voice through a curated program of 10 topics and forums, documented in partnership with the RMIT's Social Innovation Hub.

Topics ranged from social procurement, innovation, mental health and wellbeing, to social finance and law reform. Conversation Circles were fueled by speakers including social enterprise leaders, intermediaries, elected representatives, academics and consultants to the sector.

Regional network development

The regional network ensures SENVIC represents the interests of our diverse sector and can respond to local challenges and opportunities.

SENVIC's regional network has five areas (aligned with Regional Development Victoria) with a designated Local Lead volunteer as a champion of social enterprise. Local Leads are the principal contact for the local network and drive local network-building activities. Central to SENVIC's enablement strategy is seed funding to implement local action plans and promotion of local opportunities. In partnership with ACRE, SENVIC encourages member engagement at the local level to strengthen place-based connections, collaboration and empowerment.

Meet our People

Pete Ekstedt, SENVIC Regional Manager continues to develop the regional network by enabling local leadership.

Each SENVIC Local Lead has led the development of a local action plan tailored to the needs of their region, and aligned with SENVIC's strategic priorities. Pete also oversees the delivery of learning and development programs by our partner, the Australian Centre for Rural Entrepreneurship (ACRE). ACRE is a national intermediary and social enterprise led by SENVIC co-founder, Matt Pfahlert. ACRE delivers globally recognised social enterprise education from the Social Enterprise Academy (Scotland) and Social Enterprise Institute (Canada).

Develop

Facilitate access to learning and development

SENVIC supports the growth of social enterprise.

SENVIC offers subsidised learning opportunities - connecting social entrepreneurs to practitioners, programs and projects relevant to their experience, sector and stage of development. We do this in four main areas:

- > Leadership development
- > Social enterprise education
- > Storytelling and promotion
- > Inclusive, fair and sustainable workplaces

SENVIC Social Enterprise Leaders Fellowship

The 2021 SENVIC Social Enterprise Leaders Fellowship was Australia's first program designed to meet the unique leadership development needs of the social enterprise sector.

The 2021 SENVIC Fellows were selected based on merit and equity considerations via a rigorous, transparent expression of interest process. The program design was based on peer knowledge exchange, reflective practice and experiential learning. The curriculum leveraged global best practice in social enterprise learning customised for the Victorian context by Social Enterprise Academy Australia.

Performance:

- > 15 participants from 14 social enterprises
- > 100% said that the program improved the way they do things
- > 100% would recommend the program to others
- > 78% said it would have an impact on their organisations.

Social Enterprise Guided Learning 2020

In response to the pandemic, ACRE quickly adapted in-person workshops to the online environment.

49 participants from across Regional Victoria (about 10 from each region) accessed the resources they needed via a program of three group workshops and 5 five individualised learning pathways - including Steps to Startup, Impact Practice, Marketing, Investment Readiness and Tendering for Contracts. Committed to continuous improvement, we took learnings from a tumultuous 2020 to inform program development in 2021.

Performance:

- > 94% would recommend the program to a friend
- > 78% felt they would use the learnings gained from the program often or every day.

What participants said:

“Real people to chat to in our area, coupled with well developed online programs.”

“It has been extremely helpful to develop my mission and will really transform the way I understand and market my business.”

ACRE learning and development

- > 2020: 49 participants from 28 SEs
- > 2021: 41 participants from 34 SEs

Stories for Impact

30 people from 14 social enterprises attended the six week 'Stories for Impact' program by Digital Storytellers.

The program culminated in the 'Voices of Victoria' film screening in September and amplified Victoria's presence at Digital Social Enterprise World Forum 2020.

100% agreed the program aligned with SENVIC's mission:

- > Strengthen the social enterprise community and create opportunities to connect with peers
- > Develop skills and learning
- > Give members a voice.

What participants said:

"I loved what we produced. I think it should be an essential course for every start up."

"A great way to learn how to share our stories alongside other social enterprises...that connection with others was really motivating and inspiring!"

"We loved meeting change makers, sharing tips (and struggles) with each other, and learning how to tell our story better."

Inclusive and safe workplaces

“Building a Workforce of Allies: Gender and Sexual Diversity in the Workplace”

This fully-funded program of eight virtual workshops explicitly aimed to create a workforce of allies and positive and inclusive organisational culture. The program was in high-demand with 249 registrations and many missing out. We are immensely grateful to STREAT for delivering the successful and rewarding program, co-funded by the Department of Premier & Cabinet and STREAT.

- > 132 participants from social enterprise and 27 associate members
- > 54 unique social enterprises (of 132 total SE participants).

What participants said:

“I learned so much and really appreciated the safe, open, and educational space... a workshop I would recommend to anyone and everyone!”

“It was so informative and authentically delivered... inspired me to keep progressing with educating myself and also to prioritise sharing this knowledge with the people in my life.”

What's next?

Enable access to self-paced, individualised online training programs from the world-leading Social Enterprise Institute

Support members to create culturally safe workplaces with accessible online workshops in partnership with the Koori Heritage Trust

Expand our storytelling community of practice with Digital Storytellers

Build sector leadership with SENVIC Social Enterprise Leaders Fellowship 2022

Influence

Increase the voice and influence of the social enterprise community

SENVIC advocates for a thriving social enterprise ecosystem.

Empowering grassroots

SENVIC took a lead role in sector engagement in October 2020 to inform the renewal of the Victorian Social Enterprise Strategy. Our aims were to:

- > Make a powerful submission that influences the new strategy
- > Create alignment with other sector leaders
- > Encourage and empower wider sector to participate and make quality submissions.

Member engagement informed our representative role on the Victorian Government's Social Enterprise Strategy Reference Group chaired by the Hon Jane Garrett MP, Parliamentary Secretary for Jobs.

37 recommendations were developed in consultation with social enterprise practitioners and shared with key sector intermediaries to build alignment.

Key communication strategies included our online survey and 'Submission Assistant', together with Conversation Circle events that built community, strengthened identity and our unique voice during the lockdowns of 2020.

Feedback on SENVIC's online Submission Assistant

"A terrific tool to help people feel empowered to have their say."

Juanita Pope, Head of Not for Profit Law, Justice Connect

"Well done on this initiative, really clever."

Belinda Morrissey, CEO, English Family Foundation

Statistical Snapshot:

What propositions unite 4 out of 5 of SENVIC's members and enablers?

- > 91%: There are insufficient options for micro and small social enterprises to raise capital.
- > 83%: The renewed Strategy should be ambitious and bring a greater focus to inclusive and sustainable economic recovery.
- > 83%: SENVIC should be expanded in metro and regional areas, to build capacity and connections within the sector, in local communities and in local government.
- > 82%: Consolidate SENVIC's central role in the Victorian social enterprise ecosystem - connecting, building and catalysing change
- > 82%: It is unrealistic and unfair for a micro social enterprise to cover the costs of robust impact measurement and performance. No other small business carries that burden.

Building a pathway to a national social enterprise strategy

We joined with ACRE and the English Family Foundation to establish a collaboration of sector leaders from across Australia to develop a national social enterprise strategy for Australia.

The Social Enterprise National Strategy (SENS) project engaged the Yunus Centre at Griffith University to conduct research across the social enterprise sector, in Australia and overseas. The research confirmed what SENVIC members were telling us - the sector is fragmented, underserved and currently not realising its latent potential. The three-part SENS Report is a historic milestone for the social enterprise movement in Australia and will serve as a powerful tool to build shared understanding and commitment towards our first national strategy.

National network has arrived

Social enterprise networks in each state and territory united to form the Alliance of Social Enterprise Networks Australia (ASENA).

A new voice for the social enterprise sector, to drive collaboration and build a common vision for the future, ASENA's first step was to make a submission to the Prime Minister's Social Impact Investing Taskforce, calling for a 10-year plan to build the sector and the creation of a National Social Enterprise Strategy, in line with the UK and Canada.

Auditors Report

Auditor's Responsibilities for the SENVIC - Statement of Unearned Income and Expenditure.

My objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the SENVIC - Statement of Unearned Income and Expenditure as a whole is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes my opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users of the SENVIC - Statement of Unearned Income and Expenditure.
